Evans Retires

A native of Texas, his family came to California when he was young and he is a member of the Pioneer Club of Compton.

Throughout the years, he has maintained an interest in boys, although he has none of his own. This year, he declined election as president of the Peace Officers Car Club because of uncertainty about his future plans.

He has held various offices within the car club, and helps out annually with the Junior Economy Run, held for young car enthusiasts.

He is also a member of the local Toastmasters Club.

Undecided about his plans for the future, for the time being, he has contracted with the city to maintain the city parking meters on a part-time basis. Eventually, he and his wife plan to buy a trailer and travel to various parts of the country.

He has had a varied life, but he doesn't think it's over yet, and he intends to make the most of it.
